‘Spotlight’, or twilight : more letters.

Camille Akmut

July 7, 2019

Abstract

More letters that accompanied our research. ‘Spotlight’, or twilight of these institutions?

Spotlight

Greece / Tsipras rallies faithful but country is set to reject his radical dream

Charismatic prime minister was once a hero of progressives but is likely to lose election after years of political compromise

Dear Mariella / My partner is boring and I've fallen for an older, married guy at work

579

Warning: free hotel wifi is a hacker's dream John Naughton

128

(‘Spotlight’, or twilight?)

Just how low can you go? – letter to The Guardian, 07/07

<https://www.theguardian.com/lifeandstyle/2019/jul/07/my-partner-is-boring-i-have-fallen-for-an-older-married-man-at-work-mariella-frostrup>

“My partner is boring and I’ve fallen for an older, married guy at work”

Sun 7 Jul 2019 06.00 BST

Complaint :

Bottom-of-the-barrel, yellowest of yellow news, absolute bottom-of-the-pile, trash news.

Shame on you! Such stories have absolutely no place in The Guardian.

This is not why we support you.

The NYT website does not align with your values, so why publish there? – letter to the EFF, 07/07

In response to “What if All Your Slack Chats Were Leaked?”, Jul 1, NYT.

The NYT website pretty much represents the exact opposite of what the EFF seems to represent :

- I cannot read this article with the Tor Browser (default)
- I cannot read this article with Firefox (where I do not save any history)
- I cannot even read this article on archive.org!

“You’re in private mode. Log in or create a free New York Times account to continue reading in private mode.”

The NYT developers apparently have grown ‘clever’, but maybe so ought the EFF by publishing only in newspapers that actually support values of an open and free Internet and Web.