REVIEW

Book of Argumentative Texts; The Millennial Trail in the Industrial Revolution Era 4.0 was published to appreciate the various ideas put forward by the millennial generation at the 2019 scientific event of gold generation III. The millennial generation is a country's main weapon in dealing with problems in the current revolutionary era, therefore the committee trying to accommodate and convey various kinds of ideas, opinions, and solutions from the millennial generation so that readers know how important the role of the millennial generation is facing the current industrial revolution and also the key to the development and progress of the Indonesian nation in the future.

Various information about the millennial generation who are so enthusiastic in expressing ideas and conveying their arguments at the event are here, in which there is various information about ways and solutions to face the times and technology. Among them discussed food sources in Indonesia. This explains that Indonesia has not been able to carry out food self-sufficiency, namely to provide for its own food needs, even though in terms of politics and geography, Indonesia is a country that can fulfill its food sources and is even able to export to regional and international levels. One way to overcome and a solution to this problem is presented in this book.

This book is very influential for readers, especially among students who until now continue to try to deepen their knowledge as well as their broad mindset. The large capacity of the population at a young age in Indonesia makes Indonesia a country that should be productive in producing young people who play an active role in the development of today's industry, therefore this book seeks to convey the arguments of the millennial generation in the event so that it can be a basis for ideas as well. solutions that might be implemented in the future by all Indonesian people, especially all youth in Indonesia.

It is hoped that after reading this book, the reader can be more solution in dealing with the progress of the times and technology. In particular, the youth who are the hope of the nation can put into practice the contents of this book, namely the arguments of their fellow youths who have participated in the preparation of this book. Not only young people but the help and encouragement of parents is also very influential. Guidance from parents in carrying out the ideas and solutions of the youth will be a very good collaboration for the progress of the Indonesian nation.

The evidence that can be presented in this book is the enthusiasm of the millennial generation to express their aspirations at the 2019 scientific event of gold generation III, and proof that the role of youth is so important for Indonesia is the words of Mr. Soekarno who stated that youth will have a greater influence on society. Indonesia than the elderly.

This evidence also convinces the reader that this book can have a huge positive impact on Indonesia if it is carried out properly because it contains solutions to deal with industrial and technological advances. And convince readers that with the contribution of the millennial generation with the help and cooperation of parents and the government, the government will create an Indonesia that is developed and prosperous, and fair in running its country.

On page 18 of the second paragraph of this book, it is stated: "then how to do Indonesian youth to behave and play a role in this problem?". We need to first describe who is a youth. In the Big Indonesian Dictionary, youth are young men; teenagers However, the definition of true youth (bona fide) as meant in this paper is not that narrow. The following rhetorical sentence from our proclaimer father may be a clue "Give me 1000 parents, I will surely pull Semeru out of its roots. Give me 10 youths, I will shake the world." This quote means that the role of the younger generation is very important in overcoming the country's problems, and their contribution, even if in small amounts, will be much more "shaking" compared to veterans who have not had many ideas and The remaining energy is a bona fide youth who is an energetic figure with ideas and insight as well as solutions and can make a real contribution to the nation and state.

The style and size of the book are by its purpose and are suitable for reading by millennial generation students. The more modern life of the millennial generation can be a better match for the theme of this book which explains the Millenial Footprints in the Industrial Revolution Era 4.0 National Argumentation Text Competition Event of Gold Generation III UKM LSIP IKIP Siliwangi A nation can be said to be advanced if it has quality human resources and support. Looking at the behavior and attitudes of millennials, they are a group that can be fast and responsive in dealing with problems. Always think critically and have thoughts and ideas that support change. however, intelligence alone is not enough, a generation does not only need intelligence in terms of thinking. Mutual respect and have a sense of caring still need to be in the soul so that it can indicate a change for the better.

Studies, facts, and ideas are not ignored by the author. Everything is conveyed in an informative manner. In this case, it is not only the youth's role that is prioritized, the encouragement and guidance from parents as well as the involvement of the examination also greatly influences the course of this matter.

Book of Argumentative Texts; The Millennial Trail in the Industrial Revolution 4.0 Era explains in detail in each chapter in the form of arguments about the 4.0 industrial revolution. This book does not only discuss the industrial revolution, but in this book, its scope is wider. The cover of the book is also very beautiful, contemporary, and attractive, according to the target audience, namely today's millennial teenagers. This book can provide broad insight and information so that it can be read by readers from all walks of life.

This book is a combination of several articles written by the millennial generation and combined into one by the editor. However, even though it is written from several arguments, this book still has the same theme which if read carefully will be very useful for other millennial generations. Although the arguments written in this book come from different backgrounds from the context discussed, this book still attracts the hearts of readers, especially the millennial generation. As for the size of this book, starting from the content presented by the nature of the millennial generation who does not like to beat around the bush and prefer things that seem simpler. Therefore, this book is very suitable if published by the millennial generation who have extraordinary thoughts, especially in building the era of the industrial revolution 4.0. The library sources used in this book are also sources that can be accounted for so that this book can be considered by the readers. In addition to using library sources from the author's printed books, this book also uses scientific journals and articles to reinforce the ideas and ideas written. This book is supposed to be very useful for the millennial generation in an era like today where the source of information obtained sometimes comes from sources that are less accurate so that it is at risk of becoming a source of hoax news.

The advantage of this book is that this book comes from the thoughts of the millennial generation itself so that the message to be conveyed can be conveyed properly because it is by the conditions of the millennial generation itself as well. In addition, the industrial era 4.0 will also really need this book to be used as a reference source so that in the future it can compete with others. The material presented is also relatively light so that it can still be read by various age groups.

However, on the other hand, several chapters use language that is rarely encountered, so the messages are difficult to absorb. Readers must be more careful and diligent in looking first in dictionaries or the internet for these words. My advice as a reviewer to readers is to be more careful and selective in choosing books or readings because nowadays some many readings or books sometimes do not match the facts. But for this book, I think it has a clear meaning and is by the facts. My suggestion for the author is to prefer words that are easy to understand so that readers can more easily understand and carry out the meaning of this book. The writing is also still not by the KBBI. This makes some messages less conveyable to readers. The lack of appropriateness in writing this book is because the author comes from the millennial generation who may lack experience in writing books.

The advice I can give is maybe the design of this book is still a bit too plain, the lack of touches of graphic design so that it is less attractive from a visual perspective. In addition, the language used is still non-standard, so it is feared that the message contained in this book will not be conveyed properly to the reader.
