Peer Reviewer = Co-Author (in the OJMP)

Open Collaboration^{*†}

November 24, 2019

Abstract

In order to value the peer-reviewing process, the Open Journal of Mathematics and Physics (OJMP) is publicly announcing in this article that peer reviewers are invited to co-author a paper, as a golden rule, as long as (s)he gives one single contribution to improve the manuscript. This is done in order to foster Open Science and Citizen Science.

keywords: peer review, open science, citizen science, golden rule, ethics

Introduction

1. The OJMP publishes Open Science Experiments in the form of microarticles [1].
2. I believe peer reviewing should be rewarded due to the high level of intellectual effort imprinted during the process [2].

^{*}All authors with their affiliations appear at the end of this paper.

One Simple Rule

3. If the reviewer adds at least one single contribution to improve the quality of the manuscript, (s)he should be invited by the lead author to co-author the paper in accordance to the OJMP Policies [3].

Final Remarks

4. All citizens are invited to give their contribution to foster the evolution of science to an unprecedented level.
5. Open Science, Citizen Science, Diamond Open Access, Overlay Journals, and other similar approaches that are inclusive and promote the evolution of the human beings are all welcome!

Open Invitation

Please review, add content, and co-author this article. Join the Open Collaboration. Send your contribution to mplobo@uft.edu.br.

Ethical conduct of research
